Cures Woman's Weaknesses.

We refer to that boon to weak, nervous, suffering women known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Dr. John Fyfe one of the Editorial Staff of THE ECLECTIC MEDICAL REVIEW says of Unicorn root (Helonias Dioica) which is one of the chief ingredients of the "Favorite Prescription":

"A remedy which invariably acts as a uterine invigorator * * * makes for normal activity of the entire reproductive system." He continues "In Helonias we have a medicament which more fully answers the above purposes than any other drug with which I am acquainted. In the treatment of diseases peculiar to women it is seldom that a case is seen which does not present some indication for this remedial agent." DR FYFE further says: "The following are among the leading indications for Helonias (Unicorn root). Pain or aching in the back, with leucorrhœa; atonic (weak) conditions of the reproductive organs of women, mental depression and irritability, associated with chronic diseases of the reproductive organs of women; constant sensation of heat in the region of the kidneys; menorrhagia (flooding), due to a weakened condition of the reproductive system; amenorrhœa, suppressed or absent monthly periods, arising from or accompanying an abnormal condition of the digestive organs and anæmia (thin blood) habit; dragging sensations in the extreme lower part of the abdomen."

If more or less of the above symptoms are present, no invalid woman can do better than take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, one of the leading ingredients of which is Unicorn root, or Helonias, and the medical properties of which it most faithfully represents.

Of Golden Seal root, another prominent ingredient of "Favorite Prescription," Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Medical College, Chicago, says:

"It is an important remedy in disorders of the womb. In all catarrhal conditions * * * and general enfeeblement, it is useful."

Prof. John M. Scudder, M. D., late of Cincinnati, says of Golden Seal root:

"In relation to its general effects on the system, there is no medicine in use about which there is such general unanimity of opinion. It is universally regarded as the tonic useful in all debilitated states."

Prof. R. Bartholow, M. D., of Jefferson Medical College, says of Golden Seal:

"Valuable in uterine hemorrhage, menorrhagia (flooding) and congestive dysmenorrhœa (painful menstruation)."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription faithfully represents all the above named ingredients and cures the diseases for which they are recommended.

SHE KEPT ON SMOKING.

Along about the time that the 9 o'clock Atlantic City train on the Philadelphia and Reading road passes Pleasantville, Conductor Johnson and Brakeman Frank Doughty begin to take an interest in their passengers and collect tickets. It is a dignified, almost solemn proceedings and innovations are frowned upon.

An innovation was aboard the train yesterday morning, a most striking innovation; an innovation about twenty years old, wearing a large picture hat trimmed with purple feathers and violets, a dashing tight-fitting, purple tailor made suit and a dark red vest with the cutest polka dots any woman could wish for.

She was pretty, abnormally beauteous, and she took a seat in the smoking car. While the fast train was humming across the meadows she settled herself down in the cushions, rested her dainty head back against the dark green plush until the color scheme was perfect, elevated one foot on the top of the steam pipe at the side of the car and, yawning comfortably, picked a flat cigarette out of her silver purse, lit a match and sent a curling jet of smoke floating off towards the thermometer which hung from the bell rope.

There were four men in the car, observing men, men who looked as though they had families. Each tried to look scandalized; yet they looked where scandal might be found and they smiled. The pretty little innovation did not seem to mind them.

Brakeman Frank Doughty, whose ancestors once owned pretty much all of South Jersey entered the car. On all well regulated railroads it would be a breach of etiquette for the conductor to demean himself by entering first. Anyway Doughty entered. He gave the customary double shuffle with the ventilators and hammered away at the steam cock which regulates the heat thing.

He caught sight of the blue smoke that played ring-around-the-rosy with the purple feathers. He took a step forward, saw he was confronted both with an innovation and an emergency, and dashed to his doom.

"Miss, this is the smoking car."

"Thank you, it's awfully nice for you to tell me."

"Yessum, not at all I assure you; but this is the smoking car—where men smoke."

"So I see," and the purple feathers jiggled.

"But you can't smoke here." Doughty was getting flabbergasted.

"N? But I am smoking; don't you see?"

There was no answer under the sun to that, and it was then that Conductor Johnson entered. Doughty made a run for him, whispered his worst fears and stood aside. Now, Johnson is a tall, dignified conductor and he wore his most pained expression when he said:

"Madam, this is the smoking car."

"So the brakeman just informed me."

"Women do not as a rule smoke here."

"Is there a place for women to smoke, won't you tell me where I can find it?"

"But smoking by women is not allowed."

There was a twinkle as the girl replied:

"I am not smoking aloud, I am very quiet." And she sent a great big wreath of smoke toward Johnson. It formed a halo around his head for a second and wafted away.

"Put her out," shouted one of the family men as he winked secretly at the purple and violet hat. "Throw her off!" and his words were supported by another family man who asserted: Taint right, 'taint right."

Johnson suddenly got tangled up in the legal phrase of the case, rights of of women and all that. Then he saw the innovation wink back at the passengers and he wandered away as a man stricken.

And the purple innovation tripped daintily from the car at Camden, and the shameless thing of it all was that she firmly, but kindly refused any help from the family men, or to tell them who she was.

Do not Crowd the Season.

The first warm days of spring bring with them a desire to get out and enjoy the exhilarating air and sunshine. Children that have been housed up all winter are brought out and you wonder where they all came from. The heavy winter clothing is thrown aside and many shed their flannels. Then a cold wave comes and people say that grip is epidemic. Colds at this season are even more dangerous than in mid-winter, as there is more danger of pneumonia. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, however, and you will have nothing to fear. It always cures, and we have never known a cold to result in pneumonia when it was used. It is pleasant and safe to take. Children like it. For sale by W. F. Creighton and Richard Gibson.

Kodol is a scientific preparation of vegetable acids with natural digestants and contains the same juices found in a healthy stomach. Each dose will digest more than 3,000 grains of good food. Sold by W. F. Creighton & Co.

Can you believe your senses?

When two of them, taste and smell, having been impaired if not utterly destroyed, by Nasal Catarrh, are fully restored by Ely's Cream Balm, can you doubt that this remedy deserves all that has been said of it by the thousands who have used it? It is applied directly to the affected air-passage and begins its healing work at once. Why not get it today? All druggists or mailed by Ely Bros., 56 Warren Street, New York, on receipt of 50 cents.

Alexandria Gazette AND VIRGINIA ADVERTISER

SATURDAY EVENING, MAR. 21, 1908.

THE tendency to combination is nowhere more striking than in the newspaper field, says the Danville Register. The large and growing number of hyphenated newspapers in this State alone indicates in a way this tendency toward consolidation and concentration of energies and elimination of the weaker papers from a crowded field. In Richmond we have the Times-Dispatch and the News-Leader; in Norfolk the Virginian-Pilot and the Ledger-Dispatch; in Newport-News, the Times-Herald; in Bristol the Herald-Courier; in Salem the Times-Register-and-Sentinel; in Staunton the Dispatch-and-News and the Spectator-Vindicator; in Petersburg the Index-Appeal; and various others in the weekly field. In other cases morning and afternoon papers are run by the same ownership though under different names, as in Lynchburg and Roanoke. The Lynchburg News is the survivor of the News, Republican and Virginian and also owns the Advance. This is the natural and almost inevitable result of undertaking to operate more newspapers than a city can support.

DESPITE the promised passage of the Aldrich emergency currency bill and the improvement in the measure made by the withdrawal of the railroad bonds provision, the fight against it, it seems, is to be continued in both houses of Congress. In this respect Senator La Follette's speech is important for its effect upon the public. Viewed in the light of Senator La Follette's revelations concerning the few men at the head of the great financial systems who control the banks and transportation and industrial corporations of the country, the Aldrich bill in its improved form is little less dangerous than it was with the railroad bonds included, inasmuch as its operation tends further toward the monopolization of the country's resources, including its money supply.

THE Gazette a few days ago in a spirit of pleasantry stated that when Mayor Paff under the new liquor law begins the preparation of a list of habitual drunkards for posting, there would be a stampede of certain Alexandrians to the tall timber. This was seized upon by some of the Alexandria correspondents, who stated that such a list was already being prepared and went so far as to even give the number on the list. Of course, no such list is being prepared by the authorities. The Byrd law prohibits the sale of liquor to habitual drunkards, lunatics, idiots and epileptics, but no provision is made for the posting of the names of drunkards. The Byrd law will, however, tend to reduce drunkenness in Virginia, as any dealer selling liquor to drunkards will be subject to the forfeiture of his license.

SENATOR HALL, chairman of the committee on naval affairs, declared on the floor of the Senate yesterday that the cruise of the battleship fleet to the Pacific was to impress Japan. But why is Japan more than any other nation to be "impressed?" That country is on most friendly terms with this and the many Japanese in the United States know all about the American navy. To many the sending of the fleet to the Pacific was a most unnecessary thing and only to gratify a whim of Mr. Roosevelt. The great amount of money spent for this trip could have been much better spent at home.

THE United States Steel Corporation's report for 1907 shows that it had been the greatest year in the history of the corporation. The gross earnings for last year were $757,014,767, as against $696,756,926 in 1906, or the largest in the company's history, while the net earnings showed an increase of $4,340,000. No wonder this corporation has proclaimed against a reduction in prices or a revision of the tariff.

AN enterprising journalistic investigator has discovered that "the cost of living since last fall's panic has fallen to a normal level." Which suggests the inquiry from the New York Tribune, "Isn't this pushing the "mental science" treatment for adversity a little too hard?"

From Washington.

[Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.]

Washington, D. C., March 21.

President Roosevelt held an important conference at the White House today with Senator Aldrich, and Representatives Payne and Dalzell, the men who largely control the course of legislation in Congress. One of the subjects under discussion was the proposed bill to amend the Sherman anti-trust law, which will exempt from the provision of that act, certain kinds of combinations under proper restrictions. A tentative draft of the measure has been prepared and it is supposed that this was gone over by those present at the conference. After the conference, it was stated that not only had the anti-trust bill been discussed, but also the entire legislative programme which the President desires Congress to put through before the close of the session. This includes: Passage of the Aldrich currency bill; employers' liability bill; legislation limiting the injunctive power of the courts; laying of lines for tariff revision at a special session of Congress to be convened after March four, 1909, probably by the designation of a commission to consider the subject of classification of schedules during the summer recess; and amendment of the Sherman law. In the meantime an investigation into the subject, involving a critical review of the tariff schedules, is to be conducted by the ways and means committee of the House and the finance committee of the Senate. Proposed amendments to the Sherman anti-trust act were discussed but without any agreement being reached. The President expressed his belief that the railroads should be permitted to reach traffic agreements among themselves under proper supervision of the interstate commerce commission, but it was pointed out that the labor interests might object and the matter was dropped for the present.

The Senate and House leaders have agreed to President Roosevelt's proposition to have a special session of Congress called after March 4, 1909, to revise the tariff.

Baron Takahira, the Japanese Ambassador, and William H. Taft, Secretary of War, each have received and accepted an invitation from Governor Fort, of New Jersey, to be the guest of the lower House of the New Jersey Legislature at a reception to be tendered to them Monday evening.

The crisis in the controversy between the United States and President Castro and his Venezuelan government will probably be reached next week when the Senate takes up the consideration of the correspondence between the two governments in regard to American claims. Secretary Root will probably transmit the documents to the Senate on Monday or Tuesday in response to Senator Lodge's resolution. These will cover the efforts made by State Department to have the five American claims against Venezuela submitted to arbitration, the most notable of which is that of the New York and Bermudes Company connection with the asphalt deposit of the country.

A bill to prevent overcrowding of steamboats was introduced in the House, today by Mr. Olcott. It provides that the master of every passenger steamer shall keep account of the passengers received and delivered on his boat, and these lists shall be open for inspection by the steamboat inspectors.

A new crusade against anarchy has been begun by the government. La Questione Sociale, an anarchistic Italian newspaper published in Paterson, N. J., was today debarred from the United States mails by order of the postmaster general, under authority conferred upon him by the postal regulations. The anarchist sheet against which this action is taken by many is thought to have been directly responsible for the murder Father Leo by a Black Hand fanatic in Denver several weeks ago, through publication lurid denunciations of the government and advocacy of assassination and arson. A vigorous campaign will be inaugurated immediately to stop the circulation of inflammatory and seditious literature of this character. Following closely on the circular issued by Secretary of Commerce and Labor Straus, relative to the deportation of anarchists from the United States, this latest move against the Reds may be taken as a significant indication of a tardy vengeance on the part of the government for Black Hand and other anarchistic outrages, and the second step toward a new policy of rigor and repression. In all likelihood Congress will be asked for a new law by which anarchistic publications may, in the future, be regulated.

Senator Bryan, of Florida, passed a fairly comfortable night, and is reported to be considerably better today than he was yesterday. His physicians now hold out hopes for his recovery, although he has not yet passed the danger point.

Leaving their political knives at home, practically all the republican candidates for the presidency including a number of "possibilities" will join next Wednesday evening in a reception to be given by the Pennsylvania Club here in honor of Senator Knox. It is stated that the affair will be absolutely non-political in character, being intended merely as a testimonial of high esteem in which the Pennsylvania statesman is held by his associates in public life. President Roosevelt, Vice President Fairbanks, Secretary Cortelyou, and Speaker Cannon have accepted invitations. Governor Hughes has also been invited but it is not known whether he can arrange to be present.

A bill was introduced today by Senator Daniel to amend the present law regarding the disposition of the Nobel peace prize fund of $40,000 which, awarded to President Roosevelt, was turned over by him for the promotion of industrial peace.

A call to arms denouncing Secretary Taft as opposed to organized labor and urging mass meetings of local labor organizations throughout the country will be issued this evening by President Gompers of the A. F. of L. It is understood that the call will request local organizations to go on record at these meetings as to candidates in their section and if no candidate receives support from these meetings they are to put forth candidates of their own.

SNOW IN VIRGINIA

Four inches of snow covered the ground at Roanoke last night. The fall yesterday lasted six hours and was one of the heaviest of the season. Beyond a retarding of early fruit and vegetables the damage will be slight.

Snow fell throughout southwest Virginia yesterday. The ground at Bristol was covered to a depth of two inches last night. The sudden change will be beneficial in holding in check peaches and other fruit. This time last year peach trees were in full bloom.

A heavy snow yesterday with a northeast wind reached almost the proportions of a blizzard in Norfolk. The fall was almost as heavy as any during the winter. It is believed that the snow has not injured the early truck crops or fruit.

GRAND JURY INDICTS LEON.

As stated in the Gazette of that day the grand jury in Washington yesterday indicted Edward Leon Thompson, otherwise known as "Dr. Leon," charging him with causing the death, on March 18, of Lillian Pettit by performing an illegal operation. Bond was fixed by Justice Stafford at $5,000. Leon will be called for trial on March 25 on an indictment returned nearly two years ago, charging him with performing illegal operations on Sadie Volks and Lizzie Bryan.

The funeral yesterday of Senator William Pinkney Whyte at Emmanuel Protestant Episcopal Church, Baltimore, was well attended by many United States Senators, Governor Crothers and other public officials, in addition to a great throng of persons. Senator Whyte's estate, estimated at about $100,000, is bequeathed by his will to members of his family.

SHIP SUBSIDY.

The Senate passed the Gallinger ship-subsidy bill yesterday by viva voce vote.

There was practically no opposition. The measure gives the benefit of first-class rates for carrying United States mails to all vessels of the second class on routes to South America, the Philippines, Japan, China and Australasia. It gives second class rates to third-class vessels.

First-class vessels are vessels rated at a speed of sixteen knots; third-class vessels are vessels rated at fourteen knots.

The present ocean-mail law gives to twenty-knot vessels that cross the Atlantic to European ports $4 a mile for mail service, to sixteen-knot vessels $2 a mile, and to fourteen-knot vessels $1 a mile. The bill passed yesterday raises the rate for sixteen-knot ships in the South American, Australasian, and Oriental services from $2 to $4 a mile, and the rate for fourteen-knot ships from $1 to $2 a mile. In short, the rates are doubled.

Senator Bacon, of Georgia, offered an amendment providing that at least one line of ships getting the benefit of the liberal mail-carrying contracts should be required to make at least two stops south of Cape Charles on the way to South American ports.

Mr. Gallinger offered a substitute for Mr. Bacon's amendment, which was withdrawn. The substitute provided that if two lines of ships were established, the contracts of the government should provide that one of the lines should call at ports south of Cape Charles, Va.

The bill was then passed, with little opposition.

FATAL JUMP FROM TRAIN.

Jumping from the window of a toilet room on the southbound Washington express shortly before 6 o'clock yesterevening, Samuel Knaub, a horse thief, was drawn beneath the wheels of the train and killed. He was trying to escape from Constable O. K. Weaver, who had arrested him Thursday at Harrisburg, Pa. He was handcuffed when he made the jump for liberty. Knaub was about twenty-five years old. Several days ago a horse and buggy were stolen from the farm of Harry Strayer, near Dillsburg. While bringing the prisoner to York to place him in jail, Knaub asked permission to go to the toilet room. The permission was granted. Shortly after he entered the toilet a passenger heard a crash of glass. Looking from the window he saw the prisoner fall headforemost to the ground. The train was stopped. When the body was picked up it was found the prisoner's head was crushed and one of his legs severed.

KILLED BY A NEGRO.

Otto Jester, a well-known liveryman of Milford, Del., was killed last night because he teased a negro. The alleged slayer, James Dude, escaped, but a posse is searching for him. The tragedy occurred in the butcher shop of Walter H Davis, where Dude was employed. Jester, who has frequently teased the negroes of Milford, jovially struck the negro, Dude, over the head with a tin basin that he had bought. The negro became angry and said he would stab the joker if he repeated the trick. Jester again struck the negro and then ran for the door. Dude, it is alleged, seized a large knife and threw it at Jester. The knife struck him just below the knee, severing the arteries. He bled so profusely that he was unconscious upon reaching the office of Dr. Prettyman where he died at 9 o'clock.

The trial of Dr. Henry R. Treakle for shooting Wales Ward last December with intent to kill, which has been in progress in Lancaster Circuit Court for the last three days, ended late yesterday afternoon in a verdict of acquittal.

The employes of the Norfolk and Western Railway Company yesterday declined to accept the proposition submitted to them by the road on February 24, which was: "That in any month that the company's gross earnings are less than $2,500,000 their pay will be computed on the rates in effect previous to the last adjustment, this arrangement to remain in effect for 10 months."

A delegation of military men, including retired officers, veterans and active members of the military, called on the Governor yesterday and urged him to restore the number of the regiments in Richmond and to make the one in that city the First, as it was known during the war. Rev. Alexander Stuart Gibson, assistant in Ware and Abingdon parishes, Gloucester county, has accepted a call to Johns parish, Loudoun county, in succession to the Rev. John F. Coleman, who resigned some months since to accept the rectorship of the Church of St. James the Less, Ashland. Mr. Gibson will have charge of Emmanuel Church, Middleburg; the Church of Our Redeemer, Aldie, and the Church of Our Saviour, Oatlands.

John Wade, seventy-five years of age, was yesterday arraigned in the Richmond police court, charged with criminally assaulting Sadie Jones, the eight-year-old daughter of Lonnie Jones, a former officer of the law in Richmond. The alleged crime was committed yesterday afternoon in Gamble's Hill Park. Wade was arrested, but later was released under heavy bonds, Mrs. Jones declining to further prosecute him on account of the attendant notoriety. Wade's age was urged in a plea for clemency.

SUICIDE OF NEWSPAPER MAN.

Frank H. Hosford, a well-known newspaper correspondent at Washington, committed suicide yesterday afternoon by slashing his wrists and cutting his throat. Mr. Hosford, who has been unwell for several years, was lately in a much improved condition, but he had not entirely recovered his health.

He was walking along E street northwest, Washington, yesterday afternoon when he was seen to disappear into a hallway of a building near Twelfth street, and he then cut his wrist and throat.

Mr. Hosford went to Washington from Detroit over 20 years ago. He represented the Detroit Free Press, and became one of the well-known newspaper men at the capital. He represented several other western papers, and in 1887 he was elected vice president of the Gridiron Club and in 1889 he was elected president of that club. Mr. Hosford was one of the most brilliant after-dinner speakers in Washington and was noted for his ability to speak or orate on any occasion.

Of late years Mr. Hosford lost his health and he ceased to represent the Free Press, and for the last year or so has been doing work for local newspapers. He went west for his health two summers ago, but returned to Washington last summer greatly improved, and, though subject to fits of despondency for the last few months, he seem to be quite himself again and was, apparently, cheerful.

Mr. Hosford was a member of a number of fraternities and various secret orders, and held high rank in many of them. He is survived by a widow and three children.

Today's Telegraphic News.

Duke of Abruzzi Sails.

New York, Mar. 21.—Looking the part of the happy accepted suitor in every particular the Duke of Abruzzi, who report has it is to marry Miss Katherine Elkins, daughter of Senator Elkins, smiled a happy farewell to the United States today when he sailed for Liverpool on the Cunarder Lusitania. He did not say when he intends to return, but his demeanor indicated he expects to be back soon and that he then expects to claim a bride. "Everything is all right", he added. "You must not believe anything sent from Washington. Miss Elkins' family has refrained from making a public statement and their silence has been misconstrued." From all reports it is evident the duke is on his way to Rome to secure King Victor Emmanuel's formal consent to his marriage and attend to all arrangements there. Present indications, however, indicate that the wedding, if one is held, will occur shortly after the lenten season.

Rome, Mar. 21.—The Italian press has evidently made up its mind that the Duke of Abruzzi and Miss Katherine Elkins are to wed. The Official Journal, which specifically says an engagement exists, asserts that Senator Elkins will receive an Italian title, that the bride will be a full-fledged duchess, that Abruzzi will be made a vice admiral and that the couple will live at Venice. It is said the Pope has granted a dispensation for the marriage, but that Miss Elkins will probably join the Catholic Church.

General Stoessel in Prison.

St. Petersburg, Mar. 21.—General Stoessel has begun serving the ten years' term to which the death sentence against him for surrendering Port Arthur was commuted by the Czar. His quarters in the Fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul are tolerably comfortable and his confinement is not to be rigorous. He is permitted to provide his own food, exercise in the prison court yard, receive visitors under mild regulations and receives the best medical care. His health is exceedingly poor, and his physicians say they do not think he can survive a long term of imprisonment. He is said, however, to have received the Czar's assurances that he will be pardoned after a few months' imprisonment. His majesty is known to feel that Stoessel was made the scapegoat of the Port Arthur affair.

Arrangements have not yet been made for the duel in the prison court yard to which Admiral Nebagatoff, also a prisoner in the fortress, has challenged Stoessel for his attacks on the former during the general's court martial. It is believed the meeting will take place, however, as soon as Stoessel is somewhat stronger.

General Smirnoff is somewhat better, and it is now believed he will recover, though the physicians have not yet succeeded in removing the bullet lodged in his abdomen in his duel with General Fock.

Murderer Drowns Himself.

Chicago, Mar. 21.—Driven to bay after he had murderously attacked a young woman who had jilted him to wed another, Nicolas Fortuna leaped into the Calumet river at Blue Island and drowned himself to escape the fury of a mob. Mrs. Rosie Dibiuse is at a hospital suffering from three wounds inflicted by a razor. She may recover. Fortuna and Rosie Orsino were sweethearts from childhood in Palermo. When they had grown Rosie came to America with her father. In a short time Fortuna followed her and their engagement was announced to their countrymen in Blue Island. Then Donata Dibiuse appeared. Rosie forgot her old sweetheart and almost at the time set for her marriage to Fortuna married his rival. Finally drink-crazed and taunted by his friends Fortuna rushed to the home of Dibiuse. He attacked his former sweetheart with a razor. The first slash cut a gash in the head of the six months old child of the woman. A crowd pursued him when he left the house and chased him toward the river. There was no way of escape, and he hurled himself into the river.

Woman Patient Strangled.

New York, Mar. 21.—Margaret McCue, aged 31, of No. 11 Flushing avenue, Brooklyn, was found strangled to death in the observation ward of the Kings County Hospital this morning. A sheet was tightly wound around her neck, and after making a superficial investigation of the circumstances the police declared that the woman had evidently been murdered. The hospital authorities give the explanation that "death was due to an accident." The woman had been suffering from religious mania and was taken to the hospital for treatment. There she became so violent that she had to be strapped to her bed. All day yesterday she made vain attempts to wrench herself loose, and it was probably in the effort to free herself during the night that the strip of linen which held her shoulders became twisted and strangled her.

New York Stock Market.

New York, March 21.—There was a strong tone to the market through the first hour with Steel common heavily bought by brokers often acting for inside interests and giving an incentive for buying other stocks all around the room. In the later trading the demand decreased and the market closed heavy under some speculative liquidation assumed to be selling of shorts by interests that have lately been opposed to aggressive bear raids.

Killed by Night Riders.

Carlisle, Ky., Mar. 21. — Hiram Hodges was shot and killed by night riders at the door of his home, near here, last night. A band of about 50 men stopped at his home and called him out. He stepped out with a shot gun, then started to fire, when the band riddled him, then rode away.

Captain of Cruiser Rescued.

St. Thomas, Danish West Indies, Mar. 20.—The captain of the British cruiser Sylla has been picked up by the cruiser 30 miles west of here in a small boat. The captain was exhausted and the boat waterlogged. How he missed his course is not yet known here.

Burglars Captured.

Cleveland, O., Mar. 21.—Two men and a young girl burglarized the home of Vincent Belfi early today and looted the house of $600 worth of jewelry. Edith Belfi, aged 16, daughter of the man whose home was entered; Julius Watt, aged 21, and John Hoehner, aged 20, have been arrested. The police charge the girl with being a delinquent. The men are charged with burglary and larceny. Belfi was awakened by the whisperings of the burglars in the room next to the one in which he slept. He sprang out of bed, seizing a revolver from under his pillow and dashed upon the trio. The girl stood in the window and made her body a shield for the escaping burglars. Belfi did not dare shoot for fear of hitting the young woman. At a call from the two men she also leaped from the window. They caught her and the three fled. Belfi called the police. Officers picked up the trail and pursued the fugitives in a market wagon. The two men were captured at the point of a revolver and told where the girl had taken refuge. The police say that the girl and Watt were sweethearts.

From Hayti.

Port au Prince, Mar. 21.—The refugees still in the consulates at Gonaives are being hustled aboard the French cruiser D'Estres today. It was not originally intended to empty the consulates until tomorrow. It is believed attacks on them could not be staved off however.

The situation here is growing more threatening hourly. Gonaives is actually on the verge of an anti-foreign outbreak. The commanders of the foreign warships in Haitian waters are prepared to land marines on short notice. So violent was the feeling against Gen. Firmin, that it was considered dangerous to leave him in the French consulate at Gonaives even until today, and he was smuggled aboard the D'Estres under cover of darkness last night. A number of fugitive revolutionists embarked as soon as the cruisers arrived, but others had affairs to settle before they left the country and remained ashore to do so.

Word has been received from New Orleans that the Italian cruiser Etruria is coming there and will come to Port au Prince as soon as her bunkers are filled.

Accident to Trolley Car.

Syracuse, N. Y., Mar. 21.—Saved almost miraculously from instant death when a wild trolley car jumped the tracks and leaped over a thirty-foot embankment, two of the passenger are today lying at the point of death, while the four other passengers who were on the car are more or less seriously injured. The accident happened on the steep Summit avenue hill, which terminates in an embankment dropping 30 feet to a street below. The tracks turn at right angles into Bellevue street, but when the brakes broke the car as it dashed down the hill could not take the sharp curve. There was no chance for the occupants of the car to jump and they were carried over when the car plunged headlong over the embankment. The car remained standing with its nose in the ground. Rescuers rushed to the spot expecting to find the occupants all killed, but were able to lift out the victims, who had been buried to the front of the car in a heap. They were rushed to hospitals.

Police Seeking a Theory.

Evansville, Ind., Mar. 11.—Was Dr. Henry C. Jorgenson frightened to death lest the attack made by Mrs. Nancy Davenport on Mrs. Jennie Farmer be repeated with himself as a victim, or did he, fearing the scandal, take poison? No trace of violence has been found on Dr. Jorgenson's body, which was found on a lounge in his office, where Mrs. Davenport, now a raving maniac, stabbed Mrs. Farmer. This forces the police back to either suicide or scared to death theory. Examination of the dead man's heart shows that organ to be enlarged, but Coroner Young today said he was not satisfied with the theory that death was due to heart failure. Physicans today believe Mrs. Farmer will recover, but should she die Mrs. Davenport will not be prosecuted for murder, as she was declared insane at the inquest last night.

Hummel Sails for Europe.

New York, Mar. 21.—Europe is to shelter for a year Abe Hummel, who was released Thursday from the Blackwell's Island penitentiary after serving ten months' imprisonment for subornation of perjury in the Dodge-Morse divorce scandal. Hummel sailed today on the Lusitania and will spend much time abroad touring in an automobile. Hummel was registered on the steamer as K. Newberg and was accompanied by his sister, Mrs. S. H. Kaffenburg, and her son, Abraham Hummel Kaffenburg.

Steamer on the Rocks.

Seattle, Wash., Mar. 21.—News received here today from Valdez of the wreck of the steamship Saratoga, of the Alaska Steamship Company on the rocks of Busby Island yesterday afternoon during a blinding snow storm. The vessel struck the rocks at full speed and was caught amidships. Half an hour after grounding the steamer Elsie came around the island and took off the passengers, returned them to Valdez. Among the passengers was Captain Makkielson, the Artic explorer.

Nullification of Concession.

Willamstadt, Curacoa, Mar. 21.—The Venezuelan high federal court has confirmed the nullification of the famous Fitzgerald concession under which the Manoa and Orinoco companies, both American corporations, claimed rights in Venezuela. There is no appeal from the decision, but the companies' representatives have protested to the American legation. The concession is one of the matters under diplomatic discussion between Washington and Caracas.

Sixtieth Congress.

Washington, Mar. 21.

SENATE.

The legislative executive and judicial bill was taken up in the Senate today. This is the bill which provides the salaries for government employees. It was agreed to increase the appropriation for the investigation of trade conditions abroad by means of special agents, from $40,000 to $50,000.

Senator Simmons today introduced bills appropriating $65,000,000 for the purpose of refunding the cotton tax paid by citizens of the Southern States up on raw cotton during the year from 1865 to 1868.

HOUSE.

War and preparation for war was the subject in the House today when the $8,000,000 fortifications bill was taken up. "During the last twenty years money by the millions has been continually wasted by the government in attempting to fortify the Atlantic and Pacific coasts in a way that is impossible," was the startling statement made by Mr. Keifer, former Speaker of the House, on the floor. He said he was opposed to the further expenditure of large sums to fortify the Philippines, at least until a definite policy had been decided upon. "Fortify Pearl harbor, or some other point in the Hawaiian islands make it strong as Gibraltar, keep one or two battleships there and the fleet of no nation, no matter how defenseless the Pacific slope, will dare attack," declared Mr. Kiefer, who explained such a policy would make unnecessary a larger navy.

When the question of the fortification of the Philippines came, Mr. D. Armond, made the suggestion that the Philippines be converted into a propagating garden for native noblemen, whom American girls could marry without taking so many millions out of the country. He would have a high protective tariff put on the "importation" of nobleman from any other country.

Chairman Smith in charge of the qualification bill, explained that the estimates of the War Department had been reduced from $88,000,000 to $8,000,000 not because the committee was afraid of giving offense to Japan, but because it believed this country would remain at peace with Japan. He admitted, when questioned that the War Department, when it prepared the estimates six months ago, may have considered there would be war with Japan.

THREATS BY NIGHT RIDERS.

A condition of affairs similar to that by which the night riders have terrorized Kentucky, is threatened in Pittsylvania and adjoining counties, which constitutes the heart of the bright tobacco growing districts of Virginia and North Carolina. The farmers of that section have been engaged for some time in a war against the tobacco trusts, and their grievances are practically the same as the tobacco growers in Kentucky, but so far there has been no act of violence. For several days past, however, reports have reached the city of numerous threats being made against the tobacco growers of Pittsylvania county who have refused to affiliate with the tobacco growers' association, which is in reality a farmers' union. The letters received by the farmers who are not members of the organization threaten the burning of barns and the destruction of tobacco beds.

FATE OF BRIDGE JUMPER.

An unknown youth of about twenty years old, wearing the uniform of the United States navy, dropped from the Brooklyn bridge yesterday and was drowned. The sailor was a passenger on a street car until he reached a point 200 feet from the tower on the Manhattan side, when he jumped from the car and hurried to the bridge rail.

A policeman made a dash for the young man, but was too late, and the sailor crawled through the framework and dropped 135 feet into the water. He turned over twice on the way down, but came to the surface and swam to a pier on the Manhattan side. A watchman threw a rope to him, but the swimmer was apparently too exhausted to reach it and sank.

LABOR TROUBLES.

An official of the Portner Brewing Company when approached on the subject today admitted that the article on labor troubles in yesterday's Gazette referred to his company. He stated that the demands of the brewery employees were for higher wages, fewer hours and more holidays, though they were now receiving from sixteen to twenty dollars a week, working nine hours in summer and eight hours in winter, and were given five half and two whole holidays a year on full pay.

It was further stated that the demands were refused, as the company is unable to bear additional burdens at this time. No prediction was made as to what the outcome would be, but as the present contract does not expire until April 1st, it is assumed that nothing will occur before then.

SUSPECTED OF THEFT.

A young man named Joseph Horseman, living in this city, was arrested in Washington yesterday on suspicion of stealing a gold watch. He was about to pawn the timepiece when he was taken in custody Later Officer Roberts went to Washington and conducted Horseman to the station house in this city where he was locked up. Last November a fireman on the Southern Railway reported to the station house that a gold open-faced watch, valued at between $50 and $55, had been stolen from him.

Samuel Burnside, who said he owned the watch, appeared at the station house this afternoon and identified the timepiece by the number which he had in his pocket. He said the chain was cut and the watch taken while he was asleep at Monroe. Horseman, who was a brakeman on the road at the time, says he found the watch. The accused was held for the Amherst authorities.

WILL BE SENT TO AN ASYLUM.

A commission composed of Drs. Thos. S. Gibson and Arthur Snowden and Justice Thompson, yesterday examined Cornelius Bryant, the young man who had been confined in jail during the past three weeks in order that his mental condition could be ascertained. Bryant, it will be remembered, took possession of a horse and buggy belonging to the Alexandria Laundry and proceeded to Fauquier county, where he left them. He was arrested upon his return to this city. The commission decided that he should be sent to the Western State Hospital.

The Story of a Word.

A comparison of old editions of Scott's "Monastery" with one of later date will reveal a slight alteration in the text of a sentence in the tenth chapter. For the word "morse" another is substituted. A tale of comedy attaches to the word which has gone. "Hardened wretch," says Father Eustace, "art thou but this instant delivered from death, and dost thou so soon morse thoughts of slaughter?" The origin of the word morse seems sorely to have troubled the etymologists. Two learned correspondents of Notes and Queries, Mr. Wheatley tells us, accounted for the word. One explained it as "to prime," as when one primes a musket, from O. Fr. "amorce," powder for the touchhole (Cotgrave), and the other by "to bite" (Lat. "mordere"); hence "to indulge in biting, stinging or gnawing thoughts of slaughter." On the other side were those who said that the word was a misprint for something else. "That the word as a misprint should have been printed and read by millions for fifty years without being challenged and altered exceeds the bounds of probability," exclaimed the apologists for morse. But when the manuscript was examined there "nurse" was the word, plainly written.—St. James' Gazette.

Paid In Full.

Two young ladies, evidently stenographers, were having an animated discussion while on their way to work the other morning in a Market street car. The discussion revolved around the question as to the best method to impress their respective employers as to the value of their services.

"Do you know," said the smaller of the two, "my former employer was the worst old granny. He could not spell the simplest words correctly, and he couldn't pronounce them. One day I thought I would impress him with the value of my services. He gave me a letter to typewrite, and I just went along and copied it as he handed it to me. Then I made a second copy with all the misspelled words corrected. With beaming countenance I handed him both copies."

"What did he do?" breathlessly asked her friend, forcing the conductor to hold his car so that she might alight at her corner and at the same time hear the answer.

"He fired me," was the reply.—Philadelphia Record.

Held Their Own.

A regiment of regulars was making a long, dusty march across the rolling prairie land of Montana during a recent summer. It was a hot, blistering day, and the men, longing for water and rest, were impatient to reach the next town. A rancher rode past. "Say, friend," called out one of the men, "how far is it to the next town?" "Oh, a matter of two miles or so, I reckon," called back the rancher. Another long hour dragged by, and another rancher was encountered. "How far to the next town?" the men asked him eagerly. "Oh, a good two miles." A weary half hour longer of marching, and then a third rancher. "Hey, how far's the next town?" "Not far," was the encouraging answer—"only about two miles." "Well," sighed an optimistic sergeant, "we're holdin' our own anyhow."

A Slight Mistake.

Chitto Harjo was pleading in Washington for the Indians' right to roam in nomad fashion, like their fathers.

"They tell us to trust to fortune," Chitto Harjo said, "and then we'll get our rights. But we are tired of trusting to fortune. Fortune has used us Indians as it used the pale face instructress at the Indian school in 1897."

Chitto Harjo smiled and went on:

"This instructress found a horseshoe, and to get good fortune put it under her pillow, along with her false teeth. In the morning in the hurry of dressing, she substituted the shoe for the teeth and did not discover her mistake till her affianced husband asked her in tones of horror at breakfast what was the matter with her mouth."

When Oregon Was In the Balance.

There is no boundary in the world of greater political importance than the forty-ninth parallel, which divides Canada from the United States. When this boundary was under discussion, the Pacific coast was almost inaccessible, and the ownership of Oregon, now a state of vast wealth, with opulent cities and a teeming population, was in the balance. The matter was settled by the report of Captain Temple, a brother of Lord Palmerston, who wrote to the admiralty "that the country was not worth a cuss because the salmon would not take a fly."—Manchester Chronicle.

The Only Way.

"I am writing an article," he said, "on 'The Way to Manage a Woman.'"

"I suppose it will be a long one," she replied in a slightly scornful tone.

"No," he answered, "it will be quite short. In fact, it will consist of only two words—'Don't try!'"—Birmingham Post.

Long Wait.

"Grandpa, how old are you?"

"I am eighty-seven years old, my dear."

"Then you were born eighty years before I was. What a long time you had alone waiting for me!"

Worse Still.

Griggs—The idea of your letting your wife go round saying she made a man of you! You don't hear my wife saying that. Briggs—No, but I heard her telling my wife that she did her best.

Quick climatic changes try strong constitutions and cause, among other evils, nasal catarrh, a trouble-some and offensive disease. Sneezing and snuffling, coughing and difficult breathing, and the drip, drip of the foul discharge into the throat—all are ended by Ely's Cream Balm. This honest remedy contains no cocaine, mercury nor other harmful ingredient. The worst cases yield to treatment in a short time. All druggists, 50c, or mailed by Ely Bros., 56 Warren street, New York.

Cinnamon Topers.

Both cinnamon and cassia contain tannin, and too much of either has the same effect as excessive tea drinking. There are cinnamon and cassia topers who are as much addicted to the habit of chewing the bark as some men are to chewing tobacco. The cinnamon topers acquire their habit chiefly from working in the woods stripping the bark from the trees and drying it. It is graded by men who taste a tiny morsel of each lot. At first this causes the lips and throat to swell, but in time this undesirable effect overcomes itself, and a genuine love for the bark is acquired.

American Regard For Women.

Toward women the American man's attitude is fine. She is neither his deity nor his doll. He simply treats her with deference. His chivalry has as little to do with saccharine utterances, scraping feet and bended knees as has his patriotism with hysterical shriekings and the waving of ensanguined flags.—Lippincott's.

One's Point of View.

"I liked that play we saw last night because it has a happy ending."

"Why, man, the husband in it terrorizes his wife into trembling and silent submission and ends by killing his mother-in-law!"

"I said it had a happy ending."—Baltimore American.

Extenuating.

A Frenchman was convicted of killing his mother-in-law. When asked if he had anything to say for himself before taking sentence, he said, "Nothing, excepting I lived with her twenty-one years and never did it before."

Not What They Expected.

Bride—Here is a telegram from papa. Bridegroom (eagerly)—What does he say? Bride (reading)—Do not come home. All will be forgiven.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy Is Both Agreeble and Effective.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has no superior for coughs, colds and croup, and the fact that it is pleasant to take and contains nothing in any way injurious has made it a favorite with mothers. Mr. W. S. Pelham, a merchant of Kirksville, Iowa, says: "For more than twenty years Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been my leading remedy for all throat troubles. It is especially successful in cases of croup. Children like it and my customers who have used it will not take any other." For sale by W. F. Creighton and Richard Gibson.
